Do You Read "THE FLAMINGO" ?

The Rollins Undergraduate Magazine

WHAT OTHERS SAY

THE VIRGINIAN-PILOT of Norfolk in an extended notice said: "The Flamingo, in our opinion, is the most neatly executed student periodical of them all. It is advertised as 'a literary magazine of the youngest generation.' It seems to be the best of that generation."

THE JACKSONVILLE TIMES-UNION: "As distinctive and unusual as its outer appearance are the contents of The Flamingo. 'The Return of Amos' has atmosphere with a strong delicate touch and an indefinable element of the mysterious. The thirteen poems indicative of a penetrating observation and sophistication rarely expressed by young students have both imagination and substance."

WHAT OTHERS SAY

PROFESSOR HILL, Whittier College, Calif.: "The Flamingo is the best magazine of the younger generation I have seen."

MR. ARTHUR SHERBURNE HARDY, the distinguished novelist and poet, who was for some years editor of "The Cosmopolitan" under John Brisbane Walker, wrote: "I approached The Flamingo with no great appetite—rather with that languid interest with which I take up any undergraduate publication. But The Flamingo interested me at once. The opening poem, 'Heaven Shining Through,' is excellent and reminded me of Emily Dickinson. The story of the man who bought nine lots in a cemetery and erected nine monuments to Myra, the saleslady, is a corker!"

EDITORIAL COMMENT

THE following editorial from the Duke University Register penned by the able Richard E. Thigpen, Alumni Secretary of Duke University and Chairman of the Southern District of the American Alumni Council, will doubtless appeal to former students of Rollins:—

"Unfortunately some educators consider the alumni more or less as some people regard an undesirable mother-in-law—always butting in. Not so at Duke. The President and others have for many years sought to develop an interested constituency in tune with the progress of the Institution and rendering frequent service that is more than lip or check service. Alumni have a definite place in the life of the University, but that place is not one apart from the other parts of the University; rather, the alumni exist by reason of the prior existence of Alma Mater and therefore we must not overlook the fact that if there was no Alma Mater there would be no alumni. Some institutions have organized their alumni bodies as separate entities, in some cases antagonistic to the administration, and in some others solely as a money making organization, profiting by the existence and prestige of Alma Mater, but not sharing with Alma Mater the profits of such organization. Alas and alack, sooner or later these organizations fall upon evil days and pass out, while the institution continues on its way of educational service. Therefore, the only permanent system of alumni organization will be one that is an integral part of the institution. Such is the system at Duke.

"To be assured of success any movement concerned with the institution must have the best interest of that institution at heart or else it is doomed beforehand. Alma Mater and Alumni cannot be placed in juxtaposition—they must be closely knit together, each supporting the other and each giving to the other a real raison de etre. Alma Mater is judged by the standing of the Alumni in any given community—Alma Mater gave to the individual the best that it had to offer him as an undergraduate—sometimes he refused to accept. The alumni must give back to Alma Mater that loyal cooperation that enables Alma Mater to serve in a friendly atmosphere.

"Organized effort is better than sporadic individual enthusiasm. Time alone will tell the effectiveness of methods. The alumni office at Duke is something more than a money collecting agency or a vendor of pabulum about Dear Old Alma Mater and the alumnus who spells success with dollar marks. It is rather a public relations office working through the alumni in the best interest of Alma Mater.

"No alumnus can properly interpret Alma Mater if he is ignorant about Alma Mater—yet Alma Mater cannot carry on the method of lectures unless he is willing and receptive. Neither can word pictures portray the actual state of things on the campus—the individual must come back frequently, especially at Commencement at the time of his Class Reunion. Then too, there must be frequent meetings of alumni in certain communities in order that the progress of Alma Mater might be conveyed to them as a group. There must be a well organized functioning of local alumni clubs.

"Cooperation, constructive criticism and contributions of self and means is what Alma Mater justly expects of each alumnus and alumna. The form that these things will take depends largely upon the individual. Duke University seeks to keep the alumni informed, seeks to perfect their organization, asking in turn that the alumni contribute something toward making this movement successful not merely by money standards, but rather by enthusiastic loyalty on the part of an intelligent and enlightened constituency that will think always in terms of the best interests of Alma Mater."

MABELLE O'NEAL, '11, is the most recent life member of the Alumni Association, and in contributing her fee of $100 to the permanent funds of the Association, she has at the same time expressed her deep admiration for Dr. Thomas R. Baker, as a memorial to whom these life membership fees are set aside.

Miss O'Neal has proved President Holt's assertion, that a loyal alumnus is the greatest asset of a college. Intelligent co-operation, consistent support—morally and financially—and a true devotion to the high ideals fostered by Alma Mater. This may be declared as a gauge for determining loyalty. It is such loyalty as that of Mabelle O'Neal that will rapidly make Rollins the ideal small college of America.

Rollins has given to her former students the associations of a life time, the opportunities of a life time, and the responsibilities of a life time. Is Rollins not due loyalty?

EVEN though a man have as many college degrees as a thermometer, even though he be graduated with the highest of honors, he is uneducated if he halts his reading and learning with his graduation."

This was the assertion of Dr. Glenn Frank, President of the University of Wisconsin, in an address to University of Michigan alumni recently.

"The over-formalized system of credits and degrees is a disease," Dr. Frank declared. "Authentic education matriculates us at the cradle and graduates us at the grave.

"I am one of the Vice-Presidents of the National Illiteracy Crusade, but frankly I am not so much worried about the Americans who can't read as about the Americans who can read and don't.

"Adult education has long been delayed by the popular notion that you can't teach an old dog new tricks, that youth is in every way the best learning time.

"Recent experiments have proved that from 25 to 45 we are clearly better able to learn than in childhood, and at least as well, if not better able to learn than during early adolescence.

"The best thing the university can do for the rah-rah college man is to awaken in him a zest for thinking and the habit of reading. He should not let his brain go rusty after graduation on the assumption that his learning days are over.

"Good social statesmanship requires that we devise ways and means of enabling the smallest business man or farmer or manufacturer or labor group in any one of our states to have access to just as good research counsel as the United Steel Corporation or the General Electric are able to employ."

Commencement Week Activities

THE Rollins Baccalaureate was held in the Recreation Hall, Sunday, June 3rd, with Dr. Charles A. Campbell delivering the address. He took as his text the 8th verse of the 10th chapter of St. Matthew, "Freely ye have received, freely give." Dr. Campbell is Professor of biblical literature at Rollins.

The program included the invocation by Rev. R. P. Ingersoll, pastor of the Baptist church, scripture lesson by Rev. W. V. Meredith, pastor of the Methodist church, musical selections by Miss Gretchen Cox, Mr. Harry Goldstein, Mr. Harve Clemens and Miss Marguerite Poetzinger, a prayer by Dr. Jesse E. Taintor, and the benediction by Dr. C. A. Vincent, pastor of the Congregational church. President Hamilton Holt presided. The message of the morning was most inspiring.

Monday, June 4th, was set aside as Senior Day. The Seniors appeared in Chapel in cap and gown and took charge of the exercises. The program included the reading of the class prophecy, the class will, the presentation of the insurance policy to the college and the awarding of prizes.

The Phi Omega Economics prize awarded to the girl having the highest average in the department of Economics, was won by Miss Gertrude O. Ward of Winter Park. The prize was awarded by Professor Glen E. Carlson of the Economics department. It is twenty-five dollars in gold.

The Class of '28 presented Dr. Charles A. Campbell with a poem, which he had written about the Little Chapel where he has supplied during the winter months, called the "Little Chapel by the Side of the Road," beautifully hand-printed on parchment and framed, as a slight token of the love and admiration in which he is held by all on the campus and as a parting gift from the Class.

On the morning of June 8th the Seniors were honored by the annual Alumni breakfast given at the Family Tree. A number of the alumni returned for this occasion. After the breakfast initiation was held under the arms of the old Tree.

At 9:30 Graduation took place. Rev. Kerrison Juniper of the First Congregational Church, St. Petersburg, and an honorary Alumnus of Rollins College gave the principal address. Miss Gretchen Cox gave a violin solo. President Holt presented the diplomas to the largest class to go out from Rollins, forty-one degrees being given. Two honorary degrees were given to Lewis Marvin Drake and Myron Thomas Pritchard, both of Daytona Beach.

Two years ago Rollins College was greatly honored by the Southern Society of the City of New York, being chosen by that organization as one of a few American Colleges and Universities to bestow the Society's award medallion in memory of its first and beloved president, Algernon Sydney Sullivan. It is the desire of the Southern Society to recognize by the bestowal of the medallion those high spiritual qualities without which life fails to reach notable excellence and symmetry. It is not primarily concerned with high scholarship, athletic achievements or other similar forms of endeavor, but with those elements of personality which are indicative of moral strength and beauty, pureness of motive, high standards of conduct, diligence, sincerity, courtesy, helpfulness and true nobility of mind and heart, with promise of greater attainments in the future, all of which were conspicuous in the character of Mr. Sullivan. This medallion has been given two distinguished persons so far by Rollins College one of whom was Irving Bacheller, the other Mrs. Stevenson Burke.

At the close of this academic period two students from the graduating class received the medallion in recognition of the maintenance and development through the four years of college association and work of these attributes of noble life which is the worthy goal toward which all students aspire. The award was made to Miss Martha Young Mathis of Panama City, Florida, and Mr. Leonard Dudley Seaver of Waterbury, Conn. The awards came as a complete surprise to the recipients.

In awarding these medallions President Holt made the following remarks to each recipient:

"Martha Mathis, not for your creditable rank in scholarship during the four years you have studied at Rollins, not for your aptness in creative literature and journalism, not for your conspicuous abilities in the position of trust you have been elected to fill by your classmates, not even for your leadership in the cause of Christ through the Young Women's Christian Association, but for the devotion you have ever shown to all that is best and finest in Rollins and for the exemplification in your own character of what a good college girl should be, I award you the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallion, the first one to be bestowed upon a woman graduating from this institution.

"May the love and admiration of the sons and daughters of Rollins College, which this medallion symbolizes, be a source of satisfaction and inspiration to you all the days of your life."

"Leonard Dudley Seaver, not for your achievements as an all round Rollins man—whether as student or athlete, not for your selection and election by the suffrage of those who know you best to the highest office within the gift of your class, but for your modesty of mien, your integrity of character, your faithfulness in the discharge of your duties whether as a student in the classroom or a worker on a job, in fine for the example you have set of what a true Rollins man should do and be, I award you the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Medallion, the first one to be bestowed upon a man graduating from this institution.

"May the love and admiration of the sons and daughters of Rollins College, which this medallion symbolizes, be a source of satisfaction and inspiration to you all the days of your life."

At twelve o'clock the members of the graduating class with their parents and the alumni who returned for the occasion were the guests of the college at a delightful luncheon honoring the Senior Class of 1928. At this time the certificates of membership into the Alumni Association of Rollins College were given to its new members.

Members of the Graduating Class were as follows: Mary Elizabeth Atkisson, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Peter Babich, Simpson, Penn.; Herbert O. Barber, Orlando, Fla.; Allen E. Bartlett, Winter Park, Fla.; May Bullock, Winter Park, Fla.; Philip B. Cadman, Keystone Heights, Fla.; Annie Rubena Campbell, Winter Park, Fla.; Claude C. Couch, Bridgeton, N. ALUMNI in and near Chicago had a general get-together at a luncheon held at the Allertin hotel May 17th at 12:30 P. M. Alumni Secretary A. J. Hanna was present and suggested the formation of a Rollins Club of Chicago. Officers were elected at this time and a constitution accepted. The following were elected as officers of the Club; Honorary President, Louis Boisot; President, Walter S. Flentye; Secretary-Treasurer, Ruth Stagg Lauren.

The next meeting of the Rollins Club of Chicago will be held the latter part of June on the occasion of Dean George E. Carrothers' visit to Chicago.

Those who attended the first meeting were: Dr. Jeannette B. Abenchain, Mrs. J. A. Lauren (Ruth Stagg); Miss Virginia Davis, Walter S. Flentye, Robert Sedgwick and A. J. Hanna.

Mrs. Marjorie Ford James is living at Mexico, Mo.

ROLLINS CLUB OF NEW YORK

The attention of the Alumni and Undergraduates of Rollins is called to the annual meeting of the Rollins Club of New York, which will be held some time during this summer, to suit the convenience of the largest number concerned. Officers of the Club request that a suggestion about the meeting be sent to the Secretary, Mr. Fred Swain, 239 West 39th Street.

Robert Chandler, '25, met with a rather serious accident in Central Aguirre a short time ago. He returned to the States for a short rest but expects to sail for Porto Rico July 5th.

1928 Interscholastic Water Meet

IN spite of the wintry weather and the comparatively small crowd of spectators, this year's Florida High School Swimming Meet was bigger and better than ever before. More than two hundred contestants, boys and girls, from the entire state braved the chill wind that swept down the Rollins swimming course on the morning of Saturday, April 28, to defend the honor of their schools in what has come to be the most important athletic event in the state.

Four state records fell in the morning when Miami Beach high school won the ninth annual girls interscholastic aquatic meet, St. Petersburg took second place and Robert E. Lee high school of Jacksonville third.

Betty Andrews, of Miami Beach, broke two of the records, the 50 and the 75 yard dashes, and led her team in scoring. Her team-mate, Letha Bullock, also broke a record for the plunge for distance, when she went 62 feet through the water. The fourth record broken was the relay which Miami slashed by four and two-fifths seconds. The new time was six minutes, five and two-fifths seconds.

During the morning a close race developed between the Miami Beach girls and the St. Petersburg team, holders of the title in 1927. Until the 75-yard dash, which preceded the relay, both teams were contestants for first honors. Miami took first in the last two events and amassed a total of 42 points. St. Petersburg won 32 points for second place and Robert E. Lee totaled 14 for third.

The afternoon proved to be as exciting as the morning. St. Petersburg boys won the afternoon, by defeating the Miami team by a small margin.

Pete Desjardins, the national champion fancy diver, and Johnny Weismueller, the world's fastest swimmer, who were the guests of Mr. Raymond Greene, and Franklin O. King, gave remarkable exhibition performances of swimming and diving during the afternoon.

Several of the boys teams were the guests of the Rollins fraternities who provided them with beds and a home for their visit and did what they could to give the young prospective college students a favorable impression of Rollins. Many of them were free in their expressions of admiration for the beauty of the Rollins campus and declared their intention of some day making Rollins their alma mater. As a whole the young swimmers are a promising lot of material and Rollins College will be glad to welcome them to her halls.

COACH CHARLES W. CHASE and his four husky rowing boys left Rollins College on the morning of April 21 at 8:30 for the City of Asheville where they were scheduled to have their first race. They were to row against the crew of the Asheville School.

The Rollins men had already given an exhibition race at the regatta held February 22 at Palm Beach and had also won a short race against former college oarsmen, residents of Winter Park. The race in Asheville was, however, their first intercollegiate race. The trip up was rather uneventful. The men stopped at St. Augustine for a short time and visited the Fort while having a tire repaired. Saturday night they stayed in Savannah, Ga. Sunday they ran into a rain and had to make a big detour between Greenville and Hendersonville. They arrived at Asheville School at midnight.

Monday morning the crew had its first practice at 9:30 and from then on they had two workouts a day. The crew stayed out at the school with the boys. The Rollins men were used to eight-oared shells but they had to row in four-oared shells against the Asheville boys. Our boys were, therefore, working under a handicap.

The men were rather surprised and pleased to find a Rollins poster on the bulletin board of the school. They were asked many questions concerning Rollins and her plans and hopes for the future.

Friday morning the day before the race it began to rain and before afternoon it was snowing. Saturday morning there were two inches of snow on the ground and the boys practiced in a light snow storm.

The race was scheduled for that afternoon. The snow cleared off by then but it was cloudy and a cold wind was blowing. Such a setting for our Florida boys! Asheville School got the jump on us at the start and up to the middle distance they were a length and a half ahead. At this point the Rollins crew became encouraged when their cox-swain yelled that the Asheville boys had "Caught a Crab." Our men crept ahead then and for about 300 feet the shells were neck and neck. Then the stroke man on the Asheville crew broke his oar lock and Rollins went ahead. Rollins won the race by a length and a half.

The Rollins men had been used to a 36 stroke but they found that their balance was different in the smaller shells and that they could make better time with a 32 stroke, although a 36 might have been used after longer practice.

A return race has been tentatively arranged for next year in Winter Park to be raced in eight oar shells. It will probably take place about the last of March or the first of April.

This race which marked the end of a most successful season was Rollins first year of rowing since 1912. The administration feels proud of this new branch of athletics and certainly congratulates Coach Chase and his loyal crew for their fine work

Miss Emily Nicoll and Col. Edgar C. Leonard, both benefactors of Rollins, were married at "Elfwood," the home of Mrs. W. H. Harris, cousin of the bride, at New Windsor, N. Y., June 12.

Among Winter Parkers present were Mrs. Hamilton Holt, Miss Mary Leonard, Mrs. Hibbard Casselberry, Mrs. G. E. Hershey and A. J. Hanna.

Mrs. Leonard has been closely identified with the higher life of Florida and the progress of Rollins. As the popular editor of the Winter Park newspaper several years ago she became known throughout the state as the "Princess of Orange." Her most recent gesture of generosity toward the college was her gift of a collection of beautiful etchings, the work of her late father, the noted artist.

Colonel Leonard has for many years been a donor to the college and has followed its development with the keenest interest. Last spring he contributed $1,000 toward the Scholarship Fund.

Phillip Trowbridge, '23, received a commission as Second Lieutenant in the Infantry Reserve and will be in camp this summer.

Summer Plans for Alumni, Faculty and Under-Graduates

PRESIDENT HAMILTON HOLT expects to spend the summer at his summer home in Woodstock, Conn. The latter part of the summer President Holt plans to spend several weeks in Europe attending the World Peace Union at the University of Prague and the League of Nations at Geneva, Switzerland. Mrs. Holt will join him at Woodstock.

Dr. George E. Carrothers, Dean of Rollins, has again been engaged to give two courses in Education at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Leland H. Jenks, Professor of History at Rollins, will give three courses in History at the summer session of the University of Missouri.

Professor James M. Glass, Professor of Secondary Education at Rollins, will give a six weeks' course at the University of Iowa, and a second six weeks' course at the University of Wyoming.

Dr. Thomas Pierce Bailey, Professor of Philosophy at Rollins will teach Psychology at the Asheville State Normal School at Asheville, N. C.

Professor Glen E. Carlson, Professor of Business Administration at Rollins, will teach Sociology at the University of Michigan Summer School.

Maude C. Carlson, Assistant Librarian at Rollins, will act as assistant librarian at the University of Michigan during the summer.

Dr. J. C. Th. Uphof, Professor of Biology at Rollins, has been engaged by the Tropical Plant Foundation of Washington, D. C., to translate this summer several important Botanical works from the Dutch into English.

Professor Edwin O. Grover, Professor of Books at Rollins, will give a course on the "History of the Book" at the Bread Loaf School of English, famous as the English division of the Summer session of Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt.

Miss Lucille Jackson, Instructor in Physical Education for girls at Rollins, has been again engaged to take charge of similar work at Chautauqua Lake, New York, this summer.

Dr. Robert J. Sprague, Professor of Economics and Sociology at Rollins, will spend a part of his summer in Winter Park, motoring north about the middle of the summer.

Professor Richard Feuerstein, Professor of Modern Languages at Rollins, will return to New York for the summer to continue his philosophical studies.

Dr. and Mrs. Harris, Professors of English at Rollins, will be in Winter Park until July 1, when they will motor to West Barrington, Mass., where they will spend the remainder of the summer. Dr. and Mrs. Harris plan to write and their daughter, Ruth, will continue her study in art.

Mrs. Emilie B. Cass, Registrar at Rollins College, will spend the summer with her daughter in Doylestown, Ohio.

Dr. Charles A. Campbell, Professor of Bible at Rollins, will be in Hartwood, New York, this summer.

Mrs. Ruby Warren Newby, Instructor in Art at Rollins, has been awarded an art scholarship at Harvard.

Miss Virginia Robie, Instructor in Interior Decoration at Rollins, will be in Yarmouth, Maine, this summer.

Professor Willard Wattles, Professor of Literature and Journalism at Rollins, will be in Winter Park until the 1st of July working on a volume of poems entitled "Trail on Toby." After that date he will attend the Bread Loaf School of English at Middlebury, Vt. He expects to visit the Edward McDowell Colony at Petersborough, N. H., before returning to Rollins in the fall.

Miss Bernice Shor, Assistant in Biology at Rollins, plans to begin work on her Ph.D. degree at Cornell this summer. After the middle of August she will be at her father's farm in Vermont.

Miss Helen Gleason, Secretary to Dean Carrothers, will be in Winter Park for several weeks. She will spend her vacation at her home in Ohio.

Miss Dorothea Thomas, Director of the Rollins Players, will enjoy a well earned vacation at Christmas Cove, Maine. She plans to spend two weeks in New York before returning next fall.

Dr. and Mrs. Taintor, Librarian and Instructor in Latin at Rollins, will spend the summer in Rippon, Wis.

AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL CONVENTION

ROLLINS was represented at the annual convention of the American Alumni Council, which was held at the University of Minnesota May 3, 4 and 5, by A. J. Hanna, '17, Alumni Secretary and Editor of the Rollins Alumni Record.

The American Alumni Council is composed of alumni secretaries, editors and fund secretaries of more than 100 of the leading colleges and universities in the country who represent many thousand alumni.

The three-fold purpose of the 1928 Convention was (1) to provide a thoughtful discussion of the general aspects of alumni participation in college affairs; (2) a consideration of some of the more general aspects of the task facing the alumni officers; and (3) the fullest opportunity for alumni officers to meet one another, to exchange ideas, and to receive inspiration from personal contact with others faced by similar problems.

Among formal discussions taking place were: (1) Ways and Means of Informing Alumni of the Work and Policies of their College; (2) Technique of Committee Work; (3) Magazine Clinic; (4) Alumni Fund Raising; (5) Publicity; (6) Alumni Radio Programs, etc.

A feature of the Convention was an address by D. L. Grant, former alumni secretary of the University of North Carolina on "The Continuation of Intellectual Relations be-

Rollins in the News of the Day

Liberty Magazine. May 26, 1928.

Miss Lida Woods, secretary to President Hamilton Holt, writing about the qualifications of a secretary says: "I like my job because I have an active part in human affairs, working with a man of big brain and big heart; a man of fine aspiration, undaunted courage, and consecrated purpose. He is a constant source of inspiration on practical idealism and unselfish service to all co-workers."

New York Times. June 8.

"The Algernon Sidney Sullivan Medallions, awarded by the Southern Society of New York to Rollins College seniors for nobility of character were conferred recently by President Hamilton Holt on Leonard Seaver of Waterbury, Conn., and Martha Mathis of Bonifay, Fla., at the forty-third commencement of Rollins.

"President Holt, in summing up the advances made during the past year in developing the Rollins Conference Plan of Instruction, which substitutes two-hour discussion periods for the one-hour lecture system, said:

"The only difference between the Socratic and the Rollins methods is that our conference plan places Socrates on an eight-hour day and endeavors to elevate undergraduate experience to the efficiency standard of business life."

New York Herald-Tribune, June 8.

"Rollins College held its forty-third commencement recently, conferring degrees upon forty-one seniors. The gift of an endowment policy of $7,000 to the college by the graduating class was announced."

Ray More, '26, is Sales Manager for a large wholesale furniture house in New York City.

Personals

Rollins will be well represented in politics this season. C. Fred Ward, x96, Mayor of the City of Winter Park, was elected at the last primary election for the State Legislature unanimously, there being no one entered in the field against him.

Mayor Ward has served the City of Winter Park four terms, and his friends and fellow-townsmen extend to him their heartiest congratulations.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen has been successful in her campaign for Congress from the Fourth Congressional District.

Mrs. Owen is an Honorary Member of the Class of 1927 of Rollins, receiving the Honorary Degree of Doctor of Law. Florida will indeed be honored by having Mrs. Owen in Washington. The Alumni of Rollins extend to her their hearty congratulations in her recent victory.

Mrs. John T. Fuller was successful in her race against J. D. Beggs as a candidate for the Legislature. She will be the first woman legislator ever sent to the state law-making body. She is an alumna of Rollins College, a member of the City Board of Health of Orlando, a member of the Orlando Realty Board and prominent in city affairs.

Philip P. Edwards, manager of the buying department of the First Wisconsin Trust Company, has recently been elected vice president of that company, in charge of investments. Mr. Edwards has been connected with the First Wisconsin Trust Company since 1921, having gone to Milwaukee when he returned from overseas at the end of the war. He was at that time connected with the Citizens' Bureau. Mr. Edwards is a brother of Idabele Edwards Thompson and attended Rollins in 1910-11.

Miss Mary Corre, x19, is now director of Occupational Research and Councelling Division of the Cincinnati Public Schools.
